Hello, my name is Nicky Thorn, and I am excited to announce my candidacy for the Edmonton District Board position.

You may recognize me, or perhaps my dog, from various HSAA events throughout the years. I might have also had the chance to meet you when I drew your blood. I do not hold it against you if you were scared, you do not have to look. That is my job. I have been a lab worker since 2018, navigating the challenges of multiple company names, public and private, and union representation. Often these changes came with little to no notice or understanding as to what the fallout would be. I understand the importance of stability and security in our workplace, especially for young workers and parents like myself.

I have witnessed firsthand how our union transforms what can often feel like an impossible battle into a collective strength. We are a diverse group of professionals, united under HSAA, able to fight for our rights, grieve injustices, and improve the quality of life for all our members and the communities we serve. I believe that knowledge is the glue that binds us together. As your board member, I will work tirelessly to provide opportunities for personal and professional growth, helping us all become stronger.

As a current Local Unit Representative and Steward for the Patient Service Centres, I have committed to standing up against injustices in the workplace. My goal is to extend my outreach beyond my worksite, ensuring every member understands their rights and knows how to access the resources available to them. It 's crucial for us to grow our membership so that everyone can participate in the democratic process, including voting on their collective agreement and potential job action.

No one should feel alone at work. If elected, I will actively reach out to demonstrate the value of our union, ensuring that every member feels supported. I invite you to join the conversation and share your experiences. Your input is invaluable in shaping a stronger union.

Every vote matters, and I hope to count on your support. If you have not yet signed up as a member or opted in to bill 32, I encourage you to do so. This is your opportunity to fully access the resources your union provides and to ensure your voice is heard in our collective decisions. Together, we can create a vibrant, engaged union that advocates for every member. Thank you for considering me as your representative. Let's work together to build a stronger future for all of us.
